

From the Canadian Horticultural Council's newsletter - Hort Shorts Spring 2009: On March 30, the Canada Organic Office of the Canadian Food Inspection Agency (CFIA) published its new Organic Products Regulations website featuring essential information on the upcoming regulations and enforcement policy. The website includes valuable resources, such as a copy of the government's cost benefit analysis for regulating the organic =sector, questions and answers on the 2009 organic regulations, links to the regulations, standards and Canadian statistics. For more information, please go to the CFIA website